Dear Margot, [Duley]

It was so good to see you last month. Everyone here is grateful to you for coming and being here with us for the celebration. It wouldn't have been the same without you present for it. Your talk at the dinner was affirming and inspiring. Clare has transcribed it from the videotape and Lisa is planning to put it in the Women's Studies Newsletter. We wanted you to be in the picture that will come out in the alumni magazine, and we looked for you after the dinner, but for some reason couldn't find you. The pressure to get the speakers on stage for the convocation finally made us go ahead without you. I hope you don't mind too much.

I want to thank you for the support (push?) you gave me in taking on the "acting" job this year. I have really enjoyed it, though I'll be glad to give up the double responsibility. It's given me a chance to see that I can do administrative work (even though I know I prefer teaching for now), but most of all, it's put me in closer contact with the many good women here at Denison. I think we're in good shape for welcoming Annette and getting going again in the fall. There were so many volunteers for the Women's Studies Committee that we actually had to hold an election. (I tried to avoid doing that since you hadn't ever had one, but the people I approached to step down and make room wouldn't do it! Involvement is high.)

I hope all is well at Toledo. You know we all miss you.

Sincerely,
