In this exploratory essay, the aim was to hone in on an issue and frame it along with supporting statistics. Through the use of various historical examples, I wanted to showcase how this information augmented the argument being made. In that regard, the guidance I received at the writing center helped to recognize and revise issues of clarity and grammar usage. Throughout the formulation of this paper, I came to see an abstract topic focused into specific lines of argument. Additionally, I improved upon my ability to retrieve sources and construct an argument. Moreover, I was able to blend my own thoughts with the notions presented by the sources and in that, synthesize the paper's argument.
