2002

Front Matter

The Denison Journal of Religion

Contributors

Emily Peecook graduated in 2002 with a double major in Religion and Creative Writing. She is currently working for the Princeton Review.

Daniel Rohrer is a senior major in Religion and Creative Writing. He anticipates earning a professional degree in Religion.

Michael DeCesare graduated 2002 with a double major in Religion and Economics. He is currently working for a bank before entering graduate school.

Stephanie Hinkle graduated in 2002 with a triple major in Religion, Political Science, and International Studies. Currently she is working for her national sorority before doing graduate work in International Studies.

Matthew Lehrer is a senior with an Individually Designed Major focusing on individualization and participation.

The content of the Journal shall be academic discourse which promotes and illuminates community dialogue. Appropriate topics of submission include but are not limited to the secular critique of religion, inter-religious dialogue, the interpretation of sacred texts, the interaction of religion and society, the validation of ethical discernment, and issues of race, gender, and class.

Student Editor
Daniel Rohrer

Faculty Editorial Board
John Cort
John Jackson
Joan Novak
Harold Van Broekhoven
David Woodyard