Articulate Editorial Policy:

A joint student and faculty journal, Articulate is published in the spring semester of each academic year and features student essays of literary and cultural criticism. Articulate will consider papers written by Denison undergraduates in any area of literary and cultural criticism, from any department or discipline.

Faculty members are encouraged to recommend particularly strong essays from their classes for publication in Articulate. As a special feature, every year Articulate will publish the winner(s) of the Robert T. Wilson Award for Scholarly Writing.

During the review process, all information identifying the author is removed from the essay, and the essays are read as anonymous works of writing. Each Articulate editor ranks the essays on a three-point scale. After all submissions have been read, the editorial board meets to discuss and choose the essays to be published. The names and Slayter box numbers of the authors are not revealed until all decisions have been made.

Submissions should combine research with original insight and not exceed fifteen typed, double-spaced pages, although essays of greater length which are of exceptionally high quality will be considered for publication. Please use MLA documentation.

Initial submissions should be in hard copy. Those writers selected for publication will be asked to submit electronic manuscripts of their works. The journal accepts submissions at any time during the academic year.

Essays may be submitted to: Editors
