Sun-Discovered

BY BARBARA HAUPT

Rain came in the night and huddled cold in the trees
And froze into beauty which the sun discovered
Trilling-glistening in a wingtips moment of touch—
Then fluttered down into time in a puddle, melting.

Page Twenty