Three Songs

Nikos Stangos
Denison University

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.denison.edu/exile

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation
Available at: http://digitalcommons.denison.edu/exile/vol4/iss2/16

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the English at Denison Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Exile by an authorized editor of Denison Digital Commons.
Song No. 1

BY NIKOS STANGOS

There are birds in your eyes
(Sweet wind kiss my lips and never forget me)
There are birds in your eyes
A sun in my pulse
But where are you

I can hear the new leaves
Breaking the spring in green arrows
I can hear the birds
Breaking the sun in a broken china vase
And the birds in your eyes
But where are you
(Sweet wind kiss his lips and never forget him)

Song No. 2

I have knelt in the sorrow of shadows
I have knelt in lonely places
Where the sun only kneels with broken fingers.

Song No. 3

Quietly do I prepare my tomb
In a corridor with shadows
Black birds
In their black cloaks like dead priests
Pray with uplifted eyes for my breath
Quietly do I prepare my tomb
In the river with the long fingers
Baring the forehead of the corpse
On the broken pulse of the waters
And never
Never before have I felt my hands so empty.