

Denison University

Denison Digital Commons

---

Faculty Publications

---

2016

a preview of 127

Paul A. Djupe
Denison University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.denison.edu/facultypubs>

Part of the Political Science Commons

---

Recommended Citation

Djupe, Paul A., "a preview of 127" (2016). Faculty Publications. 1830.
<https://digitalcommons.denison.edu/facultypubs/1830>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by Denison Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Faculty Publications by an authorized administrator of Denison Digital Commons. For more information, please contact eresources@denison.edu.

a preview of 127

---

Paul A. Djupe

August 26, 2016

Are you feeling caught in “The Denison Bubble?” Feeling immensely isolated from reality, fun, and freedom? Well that sucks. Ever wonder how this mysterious bubble functions? We are seemingly caught in a fantastical space ripe for experimentation and growth, so why not experiment? Some intrepid scholars are diving right into Denison related issues to learn more about you and what you’re doing with your life. So if you’re having an identity crisis, feeling lost in the fog, or really just care about your campus, check out onetwentyseven, an awesome blog that makes use of data to better understand Denison and maybe even burst its bubble.

In the coming months, ots will drop posts about the implications of Denison residential patterns, how Denisonians think about the election (and who they will vote for), the profile of the most satisfied students, and the results of experiments about environmental belief changes, among other topics. Follow us to learn about new posts. Have ideas? Share them with one of our writers.